Tax Rate set at 30 Mills

Mayor McDiarmid, Councillor Cotter, and Secretary-treasurer Starr commorised the meeting of the Council on Monday evening.

A tax rate for 1915 was struck. The rate of last year, 30 mills, was retained, but as this was the lowest possible rate, no rebate of taxes will be given. As the times are so promising it is hoped that a considerable portion of back taxes will find their way into the town treasury. The estimated expenditure for 1915-1916 is $1250. This of course includes debenture interest securing.

The new Sanitary By-law is now on the town books. Dr. S. F. McEwen, as Health Officer and R. H. Thornton, as Health Inspector, will see to its enforcement.

A synopsis of the new Pound Law will be published in the Carlstadt News, and cards containing the full by-law exhibited in several places.

The following accounts were ordered paid:
H. B. Brigham, auditing — $ 8.00
C. F. Starr, material for well — 22.00
A. J. Drummond, cost of transportation and duty on fire bell — 21.00
George Russell, draying — 1.50
F. E. McDiarmid, new pump — 17.00
R. H. Thornton, on collection — 2.25

Building Programme Begins

Earnie Woolven will make extensive alterations to the Woolven building on Broadway Street. The building will have a stone foundation put under it. The ceiling at present in the building will be removed, leaving the building as one story interior. When complete the place will be a regular up-to-date tango parlor and Moving Picture theatre.

E. H. Smith, manager of the Atlas Lumber Co., announced this week that he was severing his connection with the company and will leave shortly for Minneapolis, where he has secured a position with a big concern.

Her early demise will be sincerely regretted.

The Misleading Parallel of Russia and France

A great many mis-statements have been made and doubt expressed as to actual conditions in Russia. There is no possible comparison between that country and Alberta at the present time. Russia has abolished the manufacture and sale of vodka, this is a nation going out of the liquor business, but she has left the right to sell malt liquor in hotels and restaurants, in the hands of the local municipalities. On the other hand, Alberta would abolish, unless under certain fixed and exceedingly danger breeding conditions, a monopoly of the sale of liquor thus beginning where Russia left off.

If Russia is right, Alberta must be wrong. In any case the people of Alberta could not lay claim to be following the example of Russia.

Another comparison somewhat humiliating to the intelligence of the people of Alberta is for the temperance party to point with pride to the increased capacity of all kinds and to the growth in the savings of the people. No one would dream of not asserting that there was room for improvement in both respects in Russia or that there was intely less intelligence amongst the people of Russia than in Alberta. Yet how do the temperance people explain the fact that the savings of Canada were greater at the end of last year even under existing conditions. If Russia is going forward, how do the temperance people of Alberta expect that the adoption of the Liquor Act would increase the rate of progress. There are not a few people in the Province who are firmly of the opinion that the enactment of the Liquor Act would depress rather than increase the property of the Province.

Even in Russia, under autocratic rule, when the Czar by a stroke of his pen can change the conditions under which many millions of people outwardly live, there is already a large extent of illicit dealing in liquor. According to two newspapers published in Petrograd, the St. Petersburg Zeitung and the Witsch Wt. the suppression of vodka in Russia has failed of the desired result. Everywhere "speakeasies" have sprung up and many people buy pure alcohol which they mix with water and drink. From alcohol costing eighteen kopeks five or six men can obtain a glorious breakfast. About three hundred people are arrested every day for drunkenness in Petrograd.

Then there is the case of France. Abstinence has been abolished there, but the consumption of that drug is of small consequence compared with the total consumption of alcoholic liquors which is simply enormous in that country. France provides no example to be followed by Canada.

Now that abundant moisture practically insures us of an abundant harvest, we should take steps to protect our crop by insuring the crop against the ravages of HAIL.

I don't say insure your crop in this district every year, but this crop means so much to every farmer that he cannot afford not to insure his crop.

The cost is so small that it will hardly be noticed, especially if you have a big crop.

I have been lucky in securing the exclusive agency for this district of the St. Paul Hail Insurance Co.

The oldest Hail Insurance Company doing business in Canada.

Over Twenty-six Years Experience

Hundreds of Satisfied Policy Holders

Prompt Adjustment of All Losses

The Farmers want to be very careful which company they insure with in order to get Full Protection.

You Don't Need Cash

Furthermore, I have made arrangements whereby responsible farmers may give their note for the premium due in the fall after harvest.

The cost to the farmer on the note proposition will, not be any more more than the rate charged for cash by a number of other Hail companies. Now friends, insuring your crop is a matter for your own good judgement to decide. You can decide for yourself if you can afford to lose this crop or not; but if you do insure, I want to be given an opportunity of explaining my proposition, which I firmly believe is the best Hail insurance proposition on the market to-day.

Good Times Coming

It is early yet to discount the crop which all over the country is promising so well at the present time. Nevertheless, the methods of modern business are such that a crop is discounted to a large extent long before it actually arrives. Nothing could show this more plainly than the big drop which the wheat prices have taken in the last few weeks, due to no other influence than the big crop which is now in prospect all over this continent.

There is this advantage, however, in this tendency to anticipate. In a month or so, when the crops get to a little more advanced stage, money will loosen up. The financial institutions will be the first to reflect the improved condition. The farmer will be able to get some money on account of his crop, before he has actually harvested, and thus there will be a general revival in trade conditions in the very near future.—Morning Times.

Hail Insurance

The News holds no agency or brief for Hail Insurance companies, but never-the-less, we make no apology for drawing the attention of our farmer readers to this important branch of modern farming. Some will say we have no need of it; we were never hailed out. Records show that in years when rainfall is abundant, as in the present, the danger of hail is almost doubled. Our advice to farmers this year is: choose a good company; one whose agreement shows no flaws or loopholes, and get protection. Penny wise, pound foolish, never made a millionaire. Think it over!

MARITIME PROSPERITY

What "Made-in-Canada" Has Done in the Far East in Promoting Better Business

One of the most energetic Boards of Trade in Canada is that in St. John, New Brunswick. This organization has recently been very active in the "Made-in-Canada" campaign, especially emphasizing the desirability of people who live in the Maritime Provinces buying the products made in the provinces by the sea.

After several months publicity campaigning via St. John Board of Trade recently sent out a circular, asking the following questions:

Evidence of Improvement. "Do you find evidence of improvement in the business situation?" "Is the 'Made-in-Canada' movement having a beneficial effect?"

A wholesale grocery firm, which is also engaged in spice manufacturing, replied in the following terms:

"There are quite decided evidences of improvement in business in the steady nature of the markets. The 'Made-in-Canada' movement is certainly having a beneficial effect. We find that manufacturers, brokers, jobbers and retailers are all emphasizing it quite strongly."

A wholesale shoe firm reported: "Business is about as usual; in fact, our shipments were considerably ahead of February last year. Our retail department shows a slight increase also, therefore, as far as our business is concerned, we feel that it is about normal."

Business From Canada. A leading firm of brush manufacturers replied most encouragingly:

"Business so far as we are concerned has decidedly improved in the last six or eight weeks; so much so in fact that we are now busier than we have been since this time two years ago, and we have been forced to run overtime in some sections in our endeavor to catch up with our orders. This improvement is only to a very slight extent due to business arising from the war; it comes mainly from east of Windsor. We have no way of tracing the direct results of the 'Made-in-Canada' campaign, but from our general observations have no doubt that this has been an influential factor in stimulating trade."

One of the largest tea and coffee houses in St. John, said:

"We find in the west a more hopeful feeling, but without much improvement in sales. In Ontario there is a decided improvement. In the east trade, with the exception of a few places is about normal. On the whole, it would appear that the outlook is most encouraging."

A prominent dry goods firm made this satisfactory report:

"We feel that the people of the Maritime Provinces have every reason to be thankful for the way business has kept up. Business was well sustained during the fall months and the Christmas trade was up to the phenomenal season of 1913, and now indications for the spring business seem to be still more favorable each week."

These answers offer convincing proof that business is not as bad as was thought. In the Maritime Provinces, that it is improving rapidly, and that the "Made-in-Canada" movement is assisting in restoring more favorable conditions.

How Canada Has Found Herself

National self-confidence was never fully asserted in this country until the outbreak of war. Till the tramp of the jack-boot began to vibrate in Europe we never really knew what it was to be flung entirely back upon our own resources. And the Made-in-Canada campaign is the best single expression of the change. It's one thing to have factories and railways booming in a time of fat prosperity when everything heads that way. It's a different thing to have to put your house in order and begin to rely upon your own affairs. Every dollar's worth of goods made and sold in this country in a time of war is a direct help to England in this cause; just as much, if not as directly, as every barrel of wheat that we grow. The Made-in-Canada campaign is one of the inspirations of British selfhelp the world over, and in it Canada can be truly said to have found herself.

Bill Bunk, our Special Correspondent at Bingsville, reports that the farmers of that district are so pleased with the crop prospects, that they are shipping in two more carloads of snuff. Any body having empty boxes on hand from the first car, are requested to return them to the U. F. A., who will put new covers on them and sell them to the farmers for granaries this fall.

At the weekly meeting of the Town Council it was decided to purchase a lawn mower for the purpose of removing the rank growth of whiskers on the mayor's face. They have grown to such a length that he has got to keep them in a sack and it on his back, or he would step on them and perhaps pull his head off.

Born, Saturday May 29, to Kitty, a fine young colt. Mother and colt are both doing well.

Flain Potter and Mac MacFarlane, of Tripola, were Brutus visitors last Sunday. Elwin reports that work is very hard to get this summer. He says that he applied to the water tank at Suffield for a job drinking water, but there was nothing doing.

"Recognized as the Lucky Man of To-day," is the legend of the picture on a very neat bill which has been issued announcing the Calgary Industrial Exhibition for June 30th to July 7th. The "Lucky Man" is the farmer who is shown in this instance on the top of a load of hay. Farmers, stockmen, housewives, boys and girls are always interested in Calgary's fair because of the generous premiums offered for exhibits; but for those who are looking for something more spectacular, there is a very interesting programme. Over six thousand soldiers from all parts of the province who are to be in camp there will participate in the grand military tattoo will comprise seven regimental bands, and with the usual attractions and races, the fair this year promises to be more interesting than ever it was. Several from this section are arranging to take advantage of the cheap rates and see the big Calgary Exhibition.
